

Where to find the best iPhone X insurance deal on the market

Insurance2go is offering a best price guarantee on iPhone X insurance, with its full cover policy being awarded an impressive 5 stars by Defaqto.

The mobile phone insurance provider recently found¹ that over a quarter (28%) of smartphone users plan to upgrade to a new iPhone model when their next upgrade is due. With all of the new and exciting features on the handset, and the loyal following of Apple, this comes as no surprise.

The latest Apple handset showcases a radical, bezel-free re-design and a dazzling 5.8-inch Super Retina display. The X also features facial recognition tech which acts as an ID system and has the added benefit of mapping users' expressions onto emojis.

To make sure you don't lose out in the event of something unfortunate happening to your shiny new iPhone X, Insurance2go has two covers to choose from. The standard cover protects against loss and theft for just £6.99 a month - that's roughly the price of two lattes.

If you'd like to cover yourself against loss, theft and damage, the full cover is worth the extra few quid, at £9.99 a month. What's more, if you pay a year in advance, you save yourself £8.89 or £9.89!

Insurance2go currently offers the cheapest iPhone X insurance compared to competitors including Protect Your Bubble, Debenhams Insurance, Carphone Warehouse, Vodafone and EE. In the unlikely situation iPhone X users find a better price, Insurance2go will arrange to better it.

Duncan Spencer, Managing Director of Insurance2Go said: "I'd be lost without my smartphone, and with Apple's latest features such as the glass back and larger screen surface, not insuring your iPhone X would be a costly mistake in the long run. Taking out an insurance policy on your new handset is a small price to pay for peace of mind and the protection of what could be your most prized possession."
